

Due to compliance vendor transition from PC-based to web-based software, reports for the period 01/01/2008 thru 09/30/2008 were inadvertently filed with missing required employee identification information. Upon notification from and several conversations with the Federal Election Commission, several attempts were made to diagnose the issue with the Vendor, ultimately resulting in a complete re-integration of the missing data from previous software into the Vendor's web-based site. Amendments were filed containing the missing employee identification information in answer to the Requests for Information received.
